Emily Ellen Jewell, M.D.
Board-Certified Orthopaedic Surgeon
Subspecialty Certification in Surgery of the Hand

Emily Ellen Jewell, M.D. is a board-certified orthopaedic surgeon specializing in hand and upper extremity surgery. She practices with Community Physician Network – Orthopedics and Sports Medicine in Indianapolis, where she provides comprehensive care for conditions of the hand, wrist, forearm, elbow, and peripheral nerves.

Areas of Care

- Traumatic injuries and fracture care
- Tendon and nerve reconstruction
- Wrist and elbow disorders
- Complex revision surgery
- Conditions of the hand, forearm, and peripheral nerves

Training and Certification

Dr. Jewell is board-certified by the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery and holds subspecialty certification in Surgery of the Hand.

She completed her Upper Extremity Fellowship at the Indiana Hand to Shoulder Center, one of the nation's premier training programs for complex hand and upper extremity surgery. She completed her orthopaedic surgery residency at the University of North Carolina, where she received the Orthopaedic Resident of the Year Award in recognition of her clinical excellence and leadership.

Research and Scholarship

Dr. Jewell is actively involved in research on nerve repair techniques, tendon reconstruction, and cost-effective surgical care. She has authored multiple peer-reviewed publications and book chapters in hand and upper extremity surgery and has presented her work at regional and national orthopaedic meetings.

Medical-Legal Consultation

Dr. Jewell also serves as a consultant for Indiana Medical Consulting, LLC, providing expert medical-legal review, independent medical evaluations, and surgical opinion services.

Our Commitment to You

Whether evaluating an acute injury, reviewing extensive records, or providing an independent medical opinion, Dr. Jewell brings clarity, consistency, and high-level expertise to every case.